Dr. David Diehl

Early in his college years, Dr. David Diehl found his passion and life-purpose, which is to contribute to the personal growth of others. He accomplished this in his early career as pastor/teacher, and then from mid-career until the present as higher education adjunct faculty and educational administrator. Dr. Diehl was recently appointed as Director for the newly established Institute for Instructional Engagement & Development (IIED). The IIED includes three organizational units: Center for Teaching and Learning Excellence, Faculty Academy, and Instructional Leadership Academy. These units provide programs and services that support faculty and instructional leadership professional development, learner-centered curriculum development/instructional design, and many other resources in support of instructional services. Dr. Diehl will celebrate ten years of service with HCC on August 15, 2015. He holds a Doctor of Education in Curriculum & Instruction from Texas Southern University, a Master of Education in Curriculum & Instruction with a specialty in Instructional Technology from the University of Houston – Main Campus, and a Master of Divinity in Pastoral Ministry from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.
